

MUSEUM CLOSURE

COVID-19

Updated 6/15/2020

As a public health precaution due to the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, the American Airlines CR Smith Museum will remain closed until further notice.

In accordance with health and safety guidelines from State and local officials, the CR Smith Museum is carefully considering when and how we may begin to reopen while ensuring the safety and comfort of our visitors, staff and volunteers.

At this time, we have not yet set a date for reopening to the public. We will announce any new information and visitor procedures on the Museum website and social media channels as they become available.

In the meantime, the Museum Store will continue to accept online orders, and you can receive free domestic shipping with code freeship until the Museum reopens. For additional convenience, you can now choose contactless curbside collection from the Museum. Pickup is Tuesday-Friday between 10:00 a.m.- 2 p.m. CST. Full details are on the Store website at <http://store.crsmithmuseum.org/store/>.

Thank you for your understanding during this time.
